

TERMS OF SERVICE

By MCINC, Corp. (the service provider)

Rev.: 12/30/2016

The terms of service ("TOS", "the terms", "terms") by mcinc.nyc are for management consulting services during NY business hours only and no other goods or services are included herein or overtime.

Different management types and levels services costs vary.

Any required additional goods or services or overtime costs are invoiced / billed additionally.

The service subscription terms are on bi-weekly or monthly basis with payment due at end of each of commenced subscription period.

Continued use of the services by the user is confirmation of the continued subscription to the service and full agreement to all of its terms in the light of the U.S. laws and regulations.

The service can be cancelled at anytime during the service subscription and if so the service subscription will remain active until the end of the subscription period. Remaining subscription can be either used or unused by the service user for the time of the subscription per the service user's individual needs while the payment remains due at end of each subscription period.

The terms of service can change anytime by the service provider without notice and without user's consent, and most current revision is publically available at <https://mcinc.nyc/tos.pdf>
